

Elected: Our $15 Overcoats

The grateful warmth of our handsome new Overcoats at this price will make life worth living after Election—even for "snowed-under" candidates and all who are "left out in the cold."

In fact, our $15 Overcoats have run away ahead of the ticket, this Fall; they look $3 to $5 better; and they are so well tailored, so handsome in style, fit so well and come in such a big variety of fancy cloths and colors, that we don't blame any man for liking these coats. We never showed finer or better-looking coats for the money.

Straight or military collars; fancy cloths, Oxford and black. All sizes. Overcoats from $10 to $50.

Our $15 Suits win by a big majority. And our entire suit ticket is elected—suits from $12 to $35.

JACKSON'S

"EAST LYNNE"
In reviewing the performance of "East Lynne" which comes to Jackson's this evening, the Camden Post-Telegram says: "So great was the desire to see Miss Gertrude Arden in 'East Lynne' at the Camden theatre last night that hundreds faced the driving rain storm and failed to get admission. It was quite a tribute to Miss Arden for it showed that her previous good work as Lady Isabe and Made Vine had not been forgotten. The usual popular prices will prevail."

"HIS NAME ON THE DOOR"
Frank Lord has shown himself a wonderful creator of types, as will be seen when his remarkable play "His Name on the Door" comes to Jackson's tomorrow and Friday evenings. The first and third acts of the piece take place in the office of J. Bradford Hunt, a big Wall street corporation lawyer. And it is here that Mr. Lord displays his knowledge of such an office. The character of Sampson, the old bookkeeper who wonders if it pays to be honest, is delightfully played by that excellent actor, George Gaston, who will be recalled by the original Judge Roscoe in "The Lion and the Mouse." The old bookkeeper has but few lines, but the business which Mr. Gaston infuses into the part while sitting on his high stool and working over the books is most thoroughly convincing. Springfield, Hartford and New Haven have placed their stamps of approval on the Lord play, and have lauded Mr. Lawrence Mulligan for the stage settings and the remarkable cast, which includes Frank Sheridan, Ethel Clayton, Orme Calders, Louise Closser Hale, Walter D. Greene, Mrs. Pauline Duffield, Gertrude Pasadell, Jerome Storm, Ralph D. Lee, and others. Seats are now selling.

DAN SULLY
The last chance to see Dan Sully in the role of a priest will be afforded local admirers of this clever comedian next Saturday afternoon at Jackson's when he presents his famous comedy success "The Matchmaker" in which he portrays his original character, Father Daily. At the evening performance he will present for the first time on any stage a new comedy by Terold Shepard entitled "The Game." In this play Mr. Sully appears as Tim May, the sporting politician. There are probably not two roles on the stage today so widely dissimilar, so utterly opposite in their demands upon the actor's art, as the old part Mr. Sully has abandoned and the new one he has assumed. Those who have seen the new play are positive in their statements that the change is greatly for the better, not only in the strength and interest of the character, but in the greater scope it gives to the star for the exercise of his power to thrill, interest and amuse. Seats are now selling for both performances.

POLI'S

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Murphy are favorites in Bridgeport is a certainty. They are at Poli's this week, and every time they appear, their first entrance is the signal for a perfect storm of applause. They deserve it too. For years these charming people have been before us year after year with their old Celtic comedies to please us. The oldest inhabitant can remember the time when Mark Murphy used to come out and sing and dance and chatter for their amusement. Of course, this goes down to Poli's this week and see him dance, and you will swear he is a spring chicken.

Miss Bertie Herron and her company of girls are pleasing. They have a very novel act and one that the people like. Miss Herron is very likely and attractive in her changes, and she makes a number of them, and is very much of a hit.

AUTOMOBILE FEES.
To Be Figured to First of Month After June 1.
Attorney General Holcomb has given an opinion to the secretary of the state interpreting Section 2 of the public acts of 1909. Chapter 211, to mean that the pro rata reduction allowed after June 1, in the registration fee for automobiles, be figured to the first day of the month in which the application is made. The opinion of the attorney general is as follows:

THE STATE APPEARS TO BE CLEAR. It provides that a person filing an application for a license after June 1 in any year is entitled to the pro rata reduction in the registration fee calculated to the first day of the month in which the application is made. In your illustration the application is filed October 29, so that the pro rata reduction in the registration fee would be calculated to the first day of October.

FIRE IN LARGE
TENEMENT HOUSE
New Britain, Nov. 2.—Fire broke out yesterday afternoon in a large tenement house on the corner of Booth and Orange streets, occupied by six Polish families and a grocery store in the basement where it is thought the fire originated. The firemen gained control of the flames after fighting for an hour. The back portion of the house was badly burned and the damages probably will be heavy.

PERILS OF TIN HORN NUMEROUS

Emergency Hospital Busy Treating the Wounds of Enthusiastic Election Celebrators.

The following were injured as a result of the election excitement last night and were treated by Dr. J. M. Kiernan at the emergency dispensary: Edward Hanley, watchman near the Armory, hit in the head with a wooden block after chastising a youngster who broke a red street lantern. One stitch was taken in his scalp. (Mrs. John Post, 515 Housatonic avenue, right hand lacerated by a horn being wrenched from her. Augustus Kobacos, 446 Bunnell street, left hand torn by a horn. Harber Jones, 62 Booth street, palm of right hand torn by a horn. Henry Baker 14 Caroline street, laceration on back of right hand which was hit by a horn. Three stitches were necessary to close the wound. Mary Kelly, 1070 East Main street, lip torn by a tin horn. Oscar Johnson, Dewey street, right hand lacerated by a horn. Foley's Honey and Tar cures coughs quickly, strengthens the lungs and expels colds. Get the genuine in a low package. F. B. Brill and Curtis Pharmacy, local agents. *135

Class in Electricity

On Wednesday evening of this week a class in Applied Electricity for beginners is going to start at the Y. M. C. A. night school under the direction of Harold G. Farwell of the U. M. C. Co. Mr. Farwell is a college graduate and has also had four years of practical experience with the General Electric Co. of Lynn, Mass., six months with the Western Electric Co., and two years with the Electric Cable Co. of this city. The course is purely and simply an opportunity to obtain a thorough working knowledge of electricity. There will be brought into the classroom for inspection and study all sorts of electrical apparatus and small machines such as circuit breakers, transformers, batteries, small dynamos, etc., and in addition visit will be made to at least half a dozen of the largest and best equipped power and lighting plants of the city, not to obtain smattering ideas of them but to study definite points such as type of station, arrangement, kind of power used etc. If the ground is not covered this year in the weeks course it will be continued next year in order to make the completion of the course mean something to the students.

RAILROAD MEN HELD FOR THEFT
The trial of Frank Ambler and William Monahan for theft of 1,816 pounds of copper and other metal from the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R. Co., was continued until Saturday. They had been in the employ of the road as switchmen for about two years. They sold the stuff to Michael Hoffman, junk dealer at 369 Water street, in whose yard it was found. They admitted the theft, practically, of all of the metal.

CITY BRIEFS
A meeting of the Bridgeport Pigeon Poultry and Pet Stock association will be held tomorrow evening at its rooms in the Court Exchange building. Important business will be transacted. Andrew Savok, who fell down a flight of stairs at his home on Spruce street, Sunday, Oct. 22, died at St. Vincent's hospital yesterday, of a fractured skull. He was unconscious to the end.

For the Dining Room

A certain woman once said that if but one room in her home could be well furnished, that next to a perfectly equipped kitchen, it should be the Dining Room. It should always be cheerful and pleasant, and as handsome as she could possibly afford, for the reason that it had a visible effect on the various dispositions in the family. And that woman was right. The three times a day, and maybe oftener that the family convene in the dining room ought to be very pleasant, and as for the furnishings, we are ready to provide the best. We want everybody to see that large window on Main St. that contains a
